BEST REOPENING

In spring of last year, the Goss-Michael Foundation moved out of its digs on Cedar Springs Road and embarked on the renovation of a 12,000-square-foot space in Lower Oak Lawn.

It was a long wait, but the new location is now open for business, and we couldn't be happier. GMF's inaugural exhibition in the new space features highlights from the collection and runs through the end of February. Check out more than 25 works by Michael Craig-Martin, Sarah Lucas, Richard Patterson, and more. gossmichaelfoundation.org.
